I am a complementary therapist based in Cambridge, working mainly from my peaceful and comfortable home treatment room.

I am passionate that Reflexology and other complementary therapies have a role to play in today's very stressful and busy world, complementing conventional medicine.

I am committed to help people achieve the very best level of wellbeing.

If you're suffering from a particular medical condition or from stress related issues, or just need some well-deserved relaxation, I can help.

If you live in the Cambridge area, please get in touch to find out more.
